Crunchy yellow corn cakes produced with Nostrano dell'Isola native corn variety

DESCRIPTION	Corn cakes of the Nostrano dell'Isola variety cultivated by Borgoluce
APPEARANCE	Crumbly, deep yellow in colour
TASTE	Rich and intense
PRODUCER	Borgoluce - Susegana (TV) - Veneto
OUR SELECTION	We chose these corn cakes because they are produced with Nostrano dell'Isola corn, a local native variety recently recovered thanks to the interest of a small group of farmers, including Borgoluce
CURIOSITY	Nostrano dell'Isola is a yellow corn variety, cultivated in the Piave valley and in the pre-alps area until the 1950s. Borgoluce cultivates the specific variety called 'Piadera': a seed preserved for a long time by an elderly farmer from Piadera (in the Pre-Alps) and today recovered and cultivated by a small number of farmers in the area around Vittorio Veneto. Also Borgoluce joined this project
SUGGESTIONS	In place bread slice for the preparation of croutons; excellent with sweet compotes or honey
